

STANDARD OIL TRUST IS FINED $29,240,000

Judge Landis' Decision Ends All Question As To Leniency Of United States
Against Rebaters.

HEAVIEST PENALTY EVER ENACTED

Rockefeller And His Great Trust Found Guilty Of Securing A Rebate From The Alton Railroad
Contrary To The Law.

[Special to The Gazette.]

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Judge J. M. Landis today imposed a fine of $29,240,000, the maximum amount under the law, on the Standard Oil company of Indiana, which corporation was recently convicted on the charge of accepting rebates aggregating $223,000 from the Alton road. The fine is the largest ever recorded in the history of criminal jurisprudence.

By this decision Judge Landis has set a high water mark for future fines, which may be imposed upon suits brought by the government under the Sherman Anti-Trust law. Attorneys in Chicago and elsewhere believed that the fine would be large above the maximum, $1,162,000, but few believed that it would be as large as the one.

The suit was against the Standard Oil company of Indiana, charged with accepting rebates aggregating $223,000 from the Alton railroad. During the trial the prosecution was not permitted to show the Standard of Indiana was a subsidiary company to the Standard of New Jersey. This, however, became an issue when Judge Landis was called on to assess the fine, and he asked the attorneys for the defense to furnish the information. They refused, and subpoenas were issued for John D. Rockefeller, president of the New Jersey company, as well as other officers in both concerns.

Oppose Pleas for Mercy

Despite the fact that Mr. Rockefeller professed to know little about the great company of which he is the head, Judge Landis discovered at the inquiry that the parent company owned all save five shares of the Indiana company's capital stock. Moreover, it was shown that all the profits of the Indiana company were turned over to the New Jersey corporation. The gross receipts of the trust, during 1903-04-'05, the years when the offenses were committed, were $129,000,000. The capital stock of this great holding company was shown to be $100,000,000.

His Plans.

By this showing of facts the district attorney expects to be able to overthrow any plea for mercy should one be made in an upper court. These demonstrate that even the maximum fine would be only between one-third and one-fourth of the dividends paid by the holding company to its stockholders during the period involved, and less than 15 per cent of the company's gross receipts.

After the fine the next step in the case will be the appeal, and notice of this must be given within ten days or the order to levy on the property of the defendant will be issued. There is no doubt that this notice will be given, but it remains a question whether the usual procedure will be followed, and the case taken first to the Court of Appeals and then to the supreme court.

Might Go Direct to Supreme Court.

The alternative is to take the appeal direct to the United States Supreme court, alleging a constitutional question, several of which were raised during the trial.

[Editorial to the Gazette.]

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Cooperstown, famous as the ancestral home of the author of the "Leatherstocking Tales," will celebrate the centenary of its incorporation as a town by a gala week beginning tomorrow, on much the general plan for an old home week, but with more elaborateness. For a year the citizens have been preparing now to result in one of the most interesting celebration of its kind ever held in this part of the state. Thousands of visitors are expected to attend during the week. The centenary will be marked by literary exercises of unusual attractiveness. Professor Strander Mathews has been secured to deliver the oration on James Fenimore Cooper. There will be addresses also by Bishop Henry C. Potter and Francis W. Hubay, and poems by Julia Ward Howe, Rev. Dr. Battershill, and others. There will be also regatta, parades, and other outdoor attractions. Few towns of the entire country are more interesting than Cooperstown, at the outlet of lovely Otsego lake, surrounded by charming mountain, lake and river scenery. Here was the ancestral home of James Fenimore Cooper, and in the quiet churchyard overlooking the fast Susquehanna, underneath a massive horizontal slab, repose the remains of the great American novelist.

[Editorial to the Gazette.]

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 3.—The national committee appointed by President Diaz to arrange for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of Mexico's independence has adopted a unique feature as a part of the general plan for observing the patriotic event. It is proposed that public improvements shall be inaugurated on Sept. 16, 1910, which is the date of the centennial independence anniversary, fit more than nine hundred cities and towns of the republic. It is estimated that the average cost of each of these public improvements will not be less than $100,000. In the larger cities where large public buildings or public service improvements are contemplated the amount of money to be expended may run into the millions of dollars. If a general average of $100,000 is expended in each of the nine hundred and more towns and cities, the total amount of money involved in the plan will be almost $90,000,000.

NORWAY CELEBRATES THE BIRTHDAY OF HER KING

Spirit Of Festivities Shows The Esteem Into Which Danish Prince Has Grown--Popularity Unparalleled.

[Editorial to the Gazette.]

CHRISTIANIA, Aug. 3.—Christiania was aglow with flags and hunting to-day and there was much popular rejoicing over the thirty-fifth anniversary of the birth of King Haakon. Addresses of congratulation were received from cities and towns throughout Norway and to these were added the felicitations of all the sovereigns of Europe. The greetings of the latter were conveyed to the royal palace by the diplomatic representatives, who were received in person by the King.

The popular festivities in honor of the King's birthday afford but another proof of the strong hold he has secured on the affection of his subjects. The sincere regard of the Norwegians for their king and queen is all the more remarkable when it is noted that only two years ago the young Danish prince and his English princess were invited to assume the sovereignty. In the modern history of Europe no parallel is to be found. King Haakon's uncle, Prince George of Denmark, accepted the throne of Greece and has occupied it nearly forty-five years. Yet the people of Greece entertain no real affection for him. And the same may be said of the German princesses who have become the rulers of Rumania and Bulgaria. The case of King Haakon, in fact, affords the only example of an alien ruler who has been accepted with genuine loyalty and taken into the hearts of his new subjects.

It is but natural that the strong characteristics of King Haakon should win the attachment of his people. And the winning personality of Queen Maud and the charm of the little Prince Olaf, help to the throne, have further endeared the royal couple to the Norwegian people.

But there is one trait possessed by the king that, perhaps more than any other, has pleased the Norwegians. This is his love for the sea. Like the famed Norse kings of old, King Haakon is a veritable son of the sea.

As a child he was not apart for a naval career. To this end he was educated by his father until he was fourteen years old, when he passed the examinations for admission into the Danish naval academy. There he spent the regulation four years, faring just as his comrades of nonroyal blood fared, no better, no worse.

On leaving the academy he began his active career as a midshipman. That was in 1890. In the years that followed he slowly mounted to the grade of captain, attaining that rank only a year or so before he was called to the throne of Norway. When at sea he was a hard worker, and he demanded hard work from all under him. Yet he was well liked by his officers, and the common sailors were known to hold him in high regard.

Attendance Gratifying.

Yesterday's two immense crowds, the attendance this afternoon, and the prospects for tomorrow are most gratifying in the management of the Janesville Chautauqua. Yesterday was the biggest day so far this season and it is expected that tomorrow will eclipse it. Nearly three thousand people were in Mole's Grove yesterday afternoon and a like number in the evening. Ralph Bligham, Miss Gertrude Goodwin Miller and the Dixie Jubilee singers proved popular. As these latter two, together with Father L. J. Vaughan and Dr. H. V. Adams are on tomorrow's program, the outlook for heavy gate receipts is rosante.

REGULAR CHURCH SERVICE.

Tomorrow is church day at the Chautauqua. Several of the churches will be closed and religious worship will be held at the Assembly grounds. In the morning there will be regular church service, Dr. H. V. Adams presiding and delivering the sermon and the Dixies leading the singing and furnishing one or more special numbers. Father L. J. Vaughan, the leading Catholic priest on the lecture platform, will deliver his strong sermonization on "The Lost Soul" in the afternoon. Mrs. Miller will furnish readings late in the afternoon and the Dixies will render a sacred concert in the evening. There will be nothing in the entire day's program that will offend church people of any creed or denomination.

RALPH A. BLIGHAM, Star Entertainer.

Ralph Bligham proved a brilliant entertainer last evening. For nearly two hours he kept an audience, that completely filled the auditorium, in raptures of laughter. His entrance on the platform, wearing a dress suit coat but carrying his hands in his hip pockets, created a ripple of merriment. The ripples continued, grew into waves until a storm broke and lasted until the closing number. Bligham is funny in appearance, funny in action, funny in voice and funny in frame of mind. He is a good impersonator and fine musician, being a pianist, violinist and vocalist. His clownish presentation of readings and musical numbers, interspersed with bits of instantaneous wit and humor, made one of the most entertaining programs given this year.

A Little Theatre Gossip About the Winninger Brothers.

The name Winninger, unlike that of many actors, suggests practically every branch of the theatrical profession. Still their talent is no distinction that their Christian names alone stand for primary excellence in their respective roles. Mention the name of Frank, and from practically every portion of the middle west the theatre-going people unite in agreeing that he is not only the most successful German comedian in repertory, but an organizer and business manager of rare genius and financial ability, a combination of qualities possessed by but few.

A different play will be presented each night, which with one or two exceptions have never been presented in this city before. At present, Frank Winninger, the Dutch comedian, has a new one on to spring on you this year.

The company will open at the Myers Theatre Wednesday evening, Aug. 7, for 4 nights and Saturday matinee. Ladies will be admitted free on the opening night under the usual conditions.

"Circus men are sworn enemies of the tramp dogs," said the old showman reflectively.

"In the vernacular of the white tents," he continued, "the tramp dog leaves its home and joins the show without right or invitation. You may not believe it, but the glare and glitter to say nothing of the independent, open-air life of the circus on the road, has a powerful fascination for some dogs. They become infatuated with the show, prance around the tents, secure acquaintance with the horses, pass the time of day with the elephants, and at night, when the show is loaded, stow themselves away in a baggage wagon, and turn up snuffing at the next stand, of course, the owner of a tramp dog immediately jumps to the conclusion that the animal has been stolen. That is both unjust and untrue. A dog gets the circus fever and can neither be beaten nor cajoled away from the show.

"So far as the show is concerned, these runaway tramp dogs are useless. The mere fact that they will sneak away from home shows that they are without character. A good dog, however, is a useful member of a show company. In the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth dogs are introduced in the performances in many clever and effective ways. One of the clowns walks around the Hippodrome track with a little fox terrier sitting upright on his head, dogs are introduced in the riding acts, and prove they have become experts as equestrians; a company of high-jumping wolf hounds never fail to make a great hit; a clever old English clown, has a couple of dogs that run a race around the curb of the middle ring, one jumping over the other as they pass, and others that run summersaults without the slightest urging; a pair of bulldogs make merriment by banting an inflated balloon and keeping it in the air until unusually vigorous bounces cause it to burst; in one of the menagerie acts little dogs jump through the loops attached to the horse's forelegs, and run in and out between the spokes of the flower-decorated sulky as it is being driven around the ring, and in the racing program one of the most interesting trials of speed is furnished by a pack of English whippet hounds.

The dogs that join the show of their own volition are never utilized. They soon get over the infatuation, and after a few days of trouping, disappear. The presumption is that they either find their way back to their homes or join the army of vagrant dogs, which is characteristic of every big city.

Lovers of fine dogs will find much to admire when the big show comes here, Thursday, August 8.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

The Haywood trial, which closed last week, has been a topic of absorbing interest for the past three months, and while the jury brought in a verdict of innocence, much to the satisfaction of the western miners' association, and to organized labor in general, this verdict has in no way changed public sentiment.

The fact remains that the late governor of Idaho met a violent death at the hands of an assassin, and that other atrocious crimes were committed.

While the jury will not be critical for placing the only interpretation on the Idaho law which was possible under the circumstances, the shadow of guilt still rests upon the federation and will continue to do so, so far as popular and unprejudiced sentiment is concerned.

Harry Orchard, the confessed murderer, was a member of the federation, and people will be slow to believe that he was the sole instigator of the long list of crimes committed.

The people believe in law and order, and a large majority of them are law-respecting and law-abiding citizens, and they will continue to regard with suspicion any organization which harbors such men as Orchard and his associates.

Socialism finds in the verdict a victory for personal liberty and the doctrine which this peculiar faith attempts to advance, but this fair land has no time for socialism, and there is but little danger from this source.

Organized labor represents a larger and more intelligent class, and aside from the leaders and agitators, there is no shouting over the Idaho verdict. There may be difference of opinion on the wage question, but no law-abiding citizen condones murder.

The Haywood trial, and others that are to follow, will cost the state of Idaho a liberal sum of money, but whatever may be the final outcome, the state will profit by the experience, for it will stand as an object lesson to both capital and labor that will not soon be forgotten.

The resignation of Mr. Barnes, from the state railway commission, and his criticism of the legislature, in a public address delivered in Milwaukee last week, has revived the discussion on the two-cent fare law, which has been so generally established throughout the west.

The question is being asked, in many quarters, "Will the railroads retaliate?" and the fact that the Western Passenger association has abolished state fair excursion rates, is construed to mean that the roads are attempting to play even.

This is hardly a fair construction, for when any business is arbitrarily deprived by law of one-third of its income, the management would be held responsible unless every legitimate effort was exhausted to make good a part of the loss.

The popular clamor of the people is responsible for the two-cent fare, and when the flat rate is applied to all classes of travel, there is certainly no discrimination, or cause for complaint. The man who attends a state fair once a year travels as cheap as the man who spends all of his time on the road.

He sustains the relation of the small shipper, so much discussed, and while he gets what he has long been clamoring for, he is certainly not entitled to special favors.

If the railroads continue to do business, and furnish the excellent service so long maintained, the general public must continue to pay the freight. The problem is so simple that any ordinary mind can grasp it, and no reasonable man will complain when he pays the same as his neighbor for transportation.

Time is a great leveler, and in the end most everything comes out right in the wash. As a people we are sometimes erratic, and the nation is passing through an era which has no parallel in history.

Unusual and prolonged prosperity has unbalanced many minds, and a liberal supply of money has led us into new and unexplored fields. The rich and poor alike have been prosperous, and our wants have increased so much faster than our needs that we have become a nation of recklessness.

The luxuries of life are found on every table and in every home, where the provider thinks more of the home than of the bottle.

A mad ambition has developed to keep pace with the procession, and no envy and jealousy possesses the mind and all it with unrest. The pace is the pace that kills, and it may not be slackened until an era of hard times is ushered in to bring us to our senses.

The railroads have contributed, more than any other factor, to the development and prosperity of the nation. This fact every sane mind will admit, after sober second thought. They are dependent on large blocks of capital for construction and equipment, and when they reach out across the continent, the faith that inspires them, and the ability which constructs them is of the American type, of which every citizen is proud. In attempting to regulate these great highways, action should be tempered with justice.

Hobson Has It.

The Janesville Chautauqua, which is just closing a successful session, has furnished the people with a class of high-grade amusements, perhaps more entertaining than instructive. The Chautauqua has drifted away from the plan of its founder, and is no longer recognized as a religious organization. This change has come about in response to the demands of popular sentiment, and it is well.

The talents employed ranks with the best in the line, and for a nominal price the people enjoy for ten days a summer theatre in the woods, free from the cullum of an opera-house and stage with wings and flies.

It is the people's forum where everything presented satisfies the conscience of the most fastidious. When the senior senator of Wisconsin humors away for two hours on representative government at $200 per hamper, the people applaud, the same as they do when "Pitchfork" Tillman talks about the "bigger," and when "Billy" Sunday claws the air and wipes up the ground on the amusement question, they wonder by what divine right he assumes to be conscience for everybody.

The Chautauqua platform is a bonanza for this class of popular speakers, because it furnishes them occasion at good pay in the summer session, when lecturers are at a discount. The concerts and other features are good, but they would play to empty houses, in hot weather, but for the Chautauqua.

"Billy" Sunday, by the way, seems to have stirred up quite a commotion in attempting to be the final authority on the amusement question. Mr. Sunday has undertaken a large contract, and if astute enough, he may discover that innocent amusements only become questions of conscience when influenced by education and environment.

He could play check and dominoes, and if his bugs held out he might manage a game of pit, but these are surely games of chance and better adapted to gambling than whist or cribbage or a number of scientific games which the gentleman bars from the list.

The sit of any innocent amusement is in its abuse and not in its use, the trades of "Billy" Sunday to the contrary notwithstanding.

A good brother from one of the churches was driving home with his wife, the other night after the lecture, "Well, Martin," he said, "what did you think of it?" Yankee fashions, she replied, "What did you think of it, John?"

"Oh," he said, "we've been married 30 or 40 years and have all sorts of games in the house, and I hardly think we'll change, but say, I'm sorry for the dog."

"Why, what about the dog?" she said.

"Oh, you know he was there, and we may get demoralized."

That's about the impression made on people who do their own thinking, by talkers of this kind. "Billy" Sunday is a sensationalist. That is his stock in trade, when he strikes a Chautauqua platform, and it is a winner from a financial standpoint, but he is neither law nor gospel on questions of expediency, and he is dealing with questions of this class when he talks on amusements.

PRESS COMMENT.

His Busy Season

Green Bay Gazette: In the meantime Senator La Follette is tending strictly to business and continuing to chautauqua at so much per chautauqua.

700 Costly Luxuries

Madison Democrat: The nearly seven hundred new laws will keep the lawyers and the courts and the reporters of Wisconsin busy while the people pay the costs.

"Twill Turn But One Way

Evening Wisconsin: Col. Bryan's decision to conduct an off-year political campaign in Wisconsin indicates a abroad suspicion on his part that Wisconsin is a pivotal state.

Only Evil Lies in Discussion Milwaukee Sentinel: "Hell is full of pick-a-chook wabbits," says a St. Louis preacher. Perhaps, perhaps, But can't something be done about those peacock-boos sermons?

Pill-Box Bars El Paso Herald: Denmark puts up beer in tablets, which are dissolved in water as needed. This will enable saloon-keepers to save rent, for they can set up shop in a pill box.

Well, What of It?

Evening Wisconsin: Dr. John B. Watson's startling assertion that sea gull talk may cause some people to believe that there is greater danger of being "gulled" at coast towns than at interior points.

The M. D. Still at Large

Madison Democrat: The farmer has to do his eggs, the butcher has to label his cans, and the medicine man has to blow the formula in the bottle, but doctors go freely on diagnosing as of old.

Cause for Alarm

Syracuse Post-Dispatch: One of the ears which made a perfect record in the Children's contest is of a type which costs $1,250. Motorists will soon be as obnoxious as bicyclists at cycling at this rate.

Monroe's Orphan Bear

Monroe Journal: Janesville citizens are raising money by subscription to build a cage for its two bears.

The campaign of Senator Knox for the nomination for the presidency will be formally launched at Pittsburgh next month at the meeting of the Pennsylvania State League of Republican Clubs.

James C. Dahlman, Omaha's cowboy mayor, wants to be the next democratic candidate for governor of Nebraska. Mayor Dahlman began life as a cowboy when ten years old, and continued until eight years ago.

It is expected that both Vice-President Fairbanks and Secretary Taft will attend the Ohio homecoming celebration to be held at Columbus the first week in September. Both are natives of the Buckeye State.

Announcement is made that William J. Bryan will make his first important speech of the 1908 campaign in Lafayette, Ind., at the annual banquet of the Jackson club of that city.

The banquet is usually given on January 8, the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans, but the date will probably be moved forward to suit the convenience of Mr. Bryan.

The democrats and Populists of Nebraska have won their fight for fusion on the ticket at the first direct primary election to be held next month.

The supreme court of that state has issued an order to compel the secretary of state to permit the proposed fusion on the primary ballot.

Superstitious persons who may adhere Senator Foraker and Senator Knox will probably be impressed with the fact that no senator of the United States ever stepped directly from his senatorial office into that of the presidency.

Simon Guggenheim, the new United States senator from Colorado, is said to have offered Thomas F. Walsh $50,000 for his house in Washington.

One on the mistress.

Exit "Bat" Nelson

Oshkosh Northwestern: "Battling" Nelson seems to have joined the long list of other "has-beens" who have enjoyed a brief spell of fame in connection with their pugilistic careers, only to relapse into obscurity as soon as they run against some other fellow who is fresher and more vigorous.

Mere Matter of a Few Millions

Milwaukee Free Press: Judge Landis' decision is due on Saturday on the time to be imposed against the Standard Oil company in the Chicago & Alton rebate case. The judge has the authority to fine the company $25,000, and he may let it off on the payment of $1,625,000. What fellow citizens, do you imagine he will do?

Theodore's Too Busy Just Now

Green Bay Gazette: Prof. Edward Ross of the University of Wisconsin, who has taken issue with the President on the race suicide problem, need not feel slighted if Roosevelt should overlook him for the time being. The nation's chief will probably be busy with the "undesirable" phase of life's utterances in the Haywood case for some time to come.

421 Killed on Railroads

Exchange: There were 421 passengers and employees on railroads killed by means of accidents during the six months ending March 31, last, in the United States. The total number injured during the same period was 920. Loss to the railroads by damage to trains and rolling stock, by reason of these accidents, $3,536,110. And besides that, there will be the suits for damages.

And Leaf is Costly Nowadays

Exchange: An old Maryland statute of 1723, at which time the District of Columbia was a part of that palatinate, prohibited labor on the Lord's day, under penalty of the payment, on conviction, of 200 pounds of tobacco. This statute has never been repealed or modified, and is about to be applied in all its rigor in the case of one Houser, a contractor, who had work done on Sunday. If Houser is convicted he will be compelled to pay the forfeit according to law.

The Finish in Plain View

Madison Journal: * * * The more we ponder that rumored coalition of the Packer, Stephenson and La Follette forces, the more we are disturbed. With two such strong parties as the Sentinel and Free Press, and two such pals as Packer's and Stephenson's, and such a dispenser of patronage and barter-tapper as the senior senator, what may not be accomplished.

We see our finish all right. And God's patient poor, and the common people ought to be able to see where they get off at.

Unusual But Not Cruel

Madison Journal: The sentenceing to the workhouse of several spec-timent of the Toledo "octopus," lumber dealers who had pleaded guilty under the impression that the customary ship on the wrist would follow, caused the attorney of the hapless gentlemen to protest that the punishment selected by the court was of the "cruel and unusual" variety. Mighty unusual, but not a bit cruel. He gets it so seldom in this age that the "respectable crook" doesn't recognize what is coming to him even when he sees it

TRUST BUSTING

The most popular man in the hearts of the American people today is President Roosevelt.

Why?

Because he stands for the "square deal" to the common people as well as to the corporations.

He takes the side of the people who need things and against the combinations that would take advantage of their needs, to extort undue gains.

These are days when lots of men find it to their profit to combine and raise prices.

In Dentistry, Dr. Richards of Janesville holds aloof from all local combinations and maintains his prices on a living, reasonable basis.

One lady recently saved $17 on her dental bill by selecting him to do her dental work.

He does the BEST of work.

His prices won't jar you.

BRAKERMAN KARN IS PRONOUNCED INSANE

Blood Clot Formed in Brain as Result of Railroad Accident Six Weeks Ago—Goes to Asylum Tonight.

J. E. Karn, the C. & N. W. brakeman who was injured at Crystal Lake six weeks ago today and who has been taking treatment at the Palmer Hospital and was examined by Drs. W. H. Palmer and S. H. Blackmuntner this morning and pronounced insane. He was committed to the asylum at Mendota and will be taken thither this evening. While he was setting brakes on some cars which had been switched onto a siding some more freights were thrown by the same direction, bumping into the one on which he was standing so violently and unexpectedly as to throw him headlong to the ground. He was unconscious when picked up and one of his shoulders was broken. It is believed that a blood clot formed in his brain as he has not been right, mentally, since the accident and became so unaccountable last evening that a police officer had to be called to hold him down and quiet him. It is believed that under the skilful treatment at the asylum he may recover.

FRANCE AND SPAIN ACTING IN CONCERT

PROMPT MEASURES TO MEET SITUATION IN MOROCCO.

FORMER SENDING TROOPS

Several Warships on the Way—Report That State Bank at Tangier Has Been Pillaged.

Paris, Aug. 3.—The French and Spanish governments are acting in concert and with great promptness to meet the situation that has arisen in Morocco. A warship of each of these powers is now in the harbor of Casablanca, and three French and one Spanish man-of-war are on the way to Morocco.

France has proposed to Spain the immediate landing of French and Spanish troops at Casablanca, and in anticipation of a favorable reply has prepared three transports at Toulon to convey 2,500 men and 300 horses to Morocco. What further steps, if any, are contemplated have not been made public. Slight delay and embarrassment in meeting the situation are caused by the absence of Premier Clemenceau, who is at Karlsruhe taking the cure.

Limited by Convention. An official communication issued Friday says that the action of the powers in Morocco is limited to that granted them under the Algeciras convention.

Up to midnight no telegram has been received from Tangier reporting the arrival there of fresh news from Casablanca.

A dispatch received here from Oran, Algeria, reports that the State bank at Tangier has been pillaged and that a British consular employee has been captured between Tangier and El Khra. There is no confirmation of this news from Tangier.

Spain Sends Second Cruiser. Madrid, Aug. 3.—The government announces that in addition to the cruiser Infanta Isabel, which already has arrived at Tangier, the cruiser Don Alvaro de Bazan, now at Las Palmas, has been ordered to the Moroccan coast.

Germany Not Pleased. Berlin, Aug. 3.—The French chargé d'affaires here visited the foreign office Friday and informed Foreign Secretary Tschirky of the situation at Casablanca and the intention of the French government to send warships to Morocco.

Die Post, which often reflects the views of the government, discusses the Moroccan situation at length, concluding its article with the statement that Germany will interfere no unnecessary hindrance to France if it is evident that comprehensive measures are required to restore order. Die Post, however, is little pleased with the turn affairs have taken, and says that if France set out in the beginning to secure control of Morocco, fate seems to be making the way easy for her by constantly bringing up new excuses for her to settle more firmly into the saddle.

POINT GAINED FOR MAGILL.

One Count in Indictments Quashed—Early Trial Is Asked.

Clinton, Ill., Aug. 3.—Judge Cochran Friday sustained a motion to quash the sixth count of both indictments against Fred Magill and his wife. He overruled the motion to quash the other indictments, holding that they were good.

The defense immediately filed a motion to consolidate the two cases, so that both husband and wife would be tried together, and the court took this under advisement. The defense then asked that the cases be set for trial as speedily as possible, and Judge Cochran announced that November 8 would be the earliest possible date, but after considerable argument on this subject, the judge adjourned court until Saturday morning, by which time he will decide whether the trials shall begin next week or in November. The defendants were then arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

Railroad's License Revoked.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 3.—An announcement was made Friday by Secretary of State Frank N. Julian that he had revoked the franchise of the Southern Railway company because it had removed a case from the state circuit court of Talladega county to the United States circuit court at Birmingham. This action is alleged to be in violation of the two outlaw acts passed by the state legislature last winter, each of which provided that such removal should be punishable by a revocation of the charter of the offending railroad.

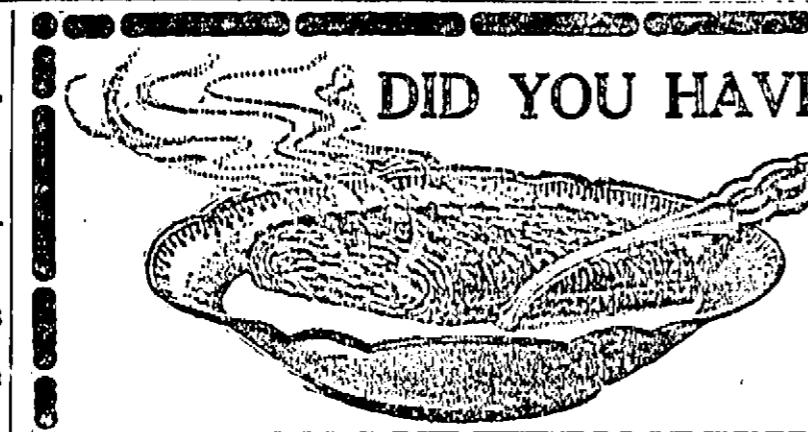

Verdict in Michigan Wreck Inquest.

Northville, Mich., Aug. 3.—The coroner's jury in the Pero Marquette wreck inquest returned a verdict late Friday night blaming the crew of the freight which collided with the excursion train, the two operators at Plymouth who copied and delivered the order to the freight crew and the Pero Marquette railroad for operating under defective rules.

Hall Damages Tobacco Crop.

WON'T FIGHT LOW FARE LAW.

Pere Marquette to Accept the New Michigan Statute.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 3.—F. W. Stevens, general solicitor for the Pere Marquette railroad, has sent a letter to C. L. Glasgow, state commissioner of railroads, announcing in behalf of Revere Locomotive and the road's stockholders that the Pere Marquette will not contest the recently enacted two-cent fare law. The law goes into effect September 28.

Mr. Stevens says in his letter that the desire to abide by the public sentiment in Michigan in favor of a two-cent rate outweighs the "well-grounded" belief of the management that such a rate is unreasonably low. In Michigan where applied practically to all roads without reference to passenger earnings or territory reached.

SENATORIAL RACE IS CLOSE.

Vardaman Ahead Now But Williams Claims 3,000 Plurality.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 3.—The senatorial race is extremely close with Williams 625 votes behind his opponent, when the official returns from 64 counties, more than half the state, were totaled.

Shortly after midnight Congressman Williams gave out a statement saying that he had heard from every county in the state and that these returns indicated a victory for him with a plurality of about 3,000 votes. This was the smallest plurality which had not been claimed for Williams.

Fifty-one counties showed the following totals: Vardaman, 38,313; Williams, 38,098.

New York, Aug. 3.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, through counsel, Friday served notice of suit for $50,000 damages upon Thomas H. McKee, as president of the Broadway Magazine (incorporated). The suit grew out of the publication in the magazine of an article entitled "Hearst Versus McClellan; and New York Mayoralty Imbroglio."

Her Majesty, Wilhelmina, the beloved Queen of the Netherlands and heiress to the immortal crown of the House of Orange, was born on August 31, 1880, and inherited the crown of the Netherlands on November 23, 1890, at the death of her father, King William III, of the Orange dynasty. Queen Wilhelmina then being only ten years of age, she ruled her kingdom for a number of years through a regency and was strictly brought up by her mother who trained the little princess according to the excellent ideals of the court of Berlin. It was not until September 6th, 1898, that the princess or rather Queen attained her majority and was crowned.

PURE LIQUORS

"Pleasant and Enjoyable"

it is (in the hot summer months) to spend a few weeks where the ocean breezes blow, particularly if the regular comforts and necessities of civilized life, including a really good malt and hop beer like are to be had. This famous beer, brewed with sterling honesty, foams with life, sparkles with strength and the very taste of it is a pure delight. Every bottle is warranted to stand any climate, being fully aged and mature. Its aromatic tang and delicious mellow fragrance makes "Peerless" peculiarly grateful in hot weather. "Peerless" does not create thirst but quenches it, because it is brewed by the "Gund Natural Process" from the best hops and barley in the world. It satisfies and pleases, stimulates the gastric juices, and doctors declare that it is not only "a ripping good medicine" for those who are weak and run down, but is also of substantial food value when solid foods are inadmissible. It contains about 3 1/2% of alcohol (which aids digestion) and is thus really a temperance beverage. For over 50 years it has surpassed all its competitors and represents the most liberal sense "the survival of the fittest." Bottled at La Crosse only. Sold everywhere by reputable dealers. The home and family trade a specialty. Try a case delivered—a case of "Peerless"—"the beer that makes you glad." Always the same—good and pure. Write or phone or call if you want for your home the best bottled beer that is to be had.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY C. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

He laughed cynically and drew up a chair near her desk. As a general thing, John Ryder never wasted words on women. He had but a poor opinion of their mentality and considered it beneath the dignity of any man to enter into serious argument with a woman. In fact, it was seldom he condescended to argue with any one. He gave orders and talked to people; he had no patience to be talked to. Yet he found himself listening with interest to this young woman who expressed herself so frankly. It was a decided novelty for him to hear the truth.

"What do I care what the world says when I'm dead?" he asked with a forced laugh.

"You do care," replied Shirley gravely. "You may school yourself to believe that you are indifferent to the good opinion of your fellow man, but right down in your heart you do care—every man does, whether he be millionaire or a sneak thief."

"You class the two together, I notice," he said bitterly.

"It is often a distinction without a difference," she rejoined promptly.

He remained silent for a moment or two, toying nervously with a paper knife. Then, arrogantly, and as if anxious to impress her with his importance, he said:

"Most men would be satisfied if they had accomplished what I have. Do you realize that my wealth is so vast that I scarcely know myself what I am worth? What my fortune will be in another fifty years staggers the imagination. Yet I started with nothing. I made it all myself. Surely I should get credit for that."

"How did you make it?" retorted Shirley.

"In America we don't ask how a man makes his money. We ask if he has got any."

"You are mistaken," replied Shirley earnestly. "America is waking up. The conscience of the nation is being aroused. We are coming to realize that the scandals of the last few years were only the fruit of public indifference to sharp business practices. The people will soon ask the dishonest rich man where he got it, and there will have to be an accounting. What account will you be able to give?"

He bit his lip and looked at her for a moment without replying. Then, with a faint suspicion of a sneer, he said:

"You are a socialist—perhaps an anarchist?"

"Only the ignorant commit the blunder of confounding the two," she retorted. "Anarchy is a disease. Socialism is a science."

"Indeed," he exclaimed mockingly. "I thought the terms were synonymous. The world regards them both as insane."

Itself an enthusiastic convert to the new political faith that was rising like a flood tide all over the world, the contemptuous tone in which this plutocrat spoke of the coming reorganization of society which was destined to destroy him and his kind spurred her on renewed argument.

"I imagine," she said sarcastically, "that you would hardly approve any social reform which threatened to interfere with your own business methods. But no matter how you disapprove of socialism on general principles, as a leader of the capitalist class you should understand what socialism is and not confuse one of the most important movements in modern world history with the crazy theories of irresponsible cranks. The anarchists are the natural enemies of the entire human family and would destroy it were their dangerous doctrines permitted to prevail. The socialists, on the contrary, are seeking to save mankind from the degradation, the crime and

"What Would You Do

If three good physicians should pronounce your case hopeless. If they should decide that you could not live longer than six weeks. And if you should get well, after using only $12.00 worth of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine, what would you advise a friend in like condition to do?

"I have to thank you for saving my wife's life two years ago. We had continued with the doctor until the third doctor, like the two previous ones, said nothing could be done for her, and that she had better be taken home from the hospital to quietly wait her time, which would not be over 4 weeks at the most. I brought her home to Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine, which helped her so I got a bottle of each and some Nervine and Liver Pill and commenced to give them to her. We soon seen an improvement, and encouraged her to continue the treatment. We gave her eleven bottles in all of the medicine. She is taken it occasionally now if she feels the need. I am in the ministry, and have been for 44 years."

excitement of making or losing millions. That is my life!"

"Yet what good is your money to you?" insisted Shirley. "You are able to spend only an infinitesimal part of it. You cannot even give it away, for nobody will have any of it."

"Money!" he hissed rather than spoke. "I hate money. It means nothing to me. I have so much that I have lost all idea of its value. I go on accumulating it for only one purpose. It buys power, I love power—that is my passion, my ambition, to rule the world with my gold. Do you know?" he went on, leaning over the desk in a dramatic attitude, "that if I chose I could start a panic in Wall street tomorrow that would shake to their foundations every financial institution in the country? Do you know that I practically control the congress of the United States and that no legislative measure becomes law unless it has my approval?"

"The public has long suspected as much," replied Shirley. "That is why you are looked upon as a monarch to the stability and honesty of our political and commercial life."

An angry answer rose to his lips, when the door opened and Mrs. Ryder entered.

"I've been looking for you, Mr. Bagley told me you were somewhere in the house. Senator Roberts is downstairs."

"He's come about Jefferson and his daughter, I suppose," muttered Ryder.

"Well, I'll see him. Where is he?"

"In the library. Kate came with him. She's in my room."

They left Shirley to her writing, and when he had closed the door the flustered turned to his wife and said impulsively:

"Now, what are we going to do about Jefferson and Kate? The senator insists on the matter of their marriage being settled one way or another. Where is Jefferson?"

"He came in about half an hour ago. He was upstairs to see me, and I thought he was looking for you," answered the wife.

"Well," replied Ryder determinedly, "he and I have got to understand each other. This can't go on. It isn't."

Mrs. Ryder put her hand on his arm and said pleadingly:

"Don't be impatient with the boy, John. Remember he is all we have. He is so unhappy. He wants to please us, but—"

"But he insists on pleasing himself," said Ryder completing the sentence.

"I'm afraid, John, that his liking for that Miss Rossmore is more serious than you realize!"

The dancier stamped his foot and replied angrily:

"Rossmore! That name seems to confront me at every turn—for years the father, now the daughter! I'm sorry, my dear," he went on more calmly, "that you seem inclined to listen to Jefferson. It only encourages him in his attitude toward me. Kate would make him an excellent wife, while what do we know about the other women? Are you willing to sacrifice your son's future to a mere boyish whim?"

Mrs. Ryder sighed.

"It's very hard," she said, "for a mother to know what to advise. Miss Green says—"

"What?" exclaimed her husband, "you have consulted Miss Green on the subject?"

"Yes," answered his wife, "I don't know how I came to tell her, but I did. I seem to tell her everything. I find her such a comfort, John. I haven't had an attack of nerves since that girl has been in the house."

"She is certainly an superior woman," admitted Ryder. "I wish she'd wear that Rossmore girl off. I wish she'd stop abruptly as if not venturing to give expression to his thoughts, even to his wife. Then he said: "If she were Kate Roberts she wouldn't let Jeff slip through her fingers."

"I have often wished," went on Mrs. Ryder, "that Kate were more like Shirley Green. I don't think we would have any difficulty with Jeff then."

Henry C. Frick

Henry Clay Frick, the Pittsburgh steel magnate and one of the great powers in the huge Pennsylvania railroad interests, was born at W. Overton, Pa., on December 19th, 1849. He began life as a clerk in the distillery trade but later he entered the coke business where he first showed his marvelous power of management and business determination. Mr. Frick married Miss Adelicia Roward in 1887 at Pittsburgh. Since 1887 he has been the active head of the H. C. Frick Coke company, which produces more coke than any other single corporation in the world. It was in 1892 that Mr. Frick gained international prominence in connection with his fight against labor during the famous Homestead strike. He was wounded and nearly blown up with a dynamite bomb. Since that time Mr. Frick has been more secluded. He is noted for charitable works and has given big sums to worthy objects.

A REWARD OF FAITH.

Conclusion Drawn from the Destruction of an Ohio Church.

A congregation in a hilly district in Ohio bought a small tract of land and erected a church building upon it, says the Youth's Companion. Then the question of insurance came up. Mr. Sipes, the wealthiest member, who had contributed more than half the money needed for the new structure, declared that he did not believe in insurance. "This is the Lord's building. He'll take care of it," he said. His view prevailed and there was no insurance. In a few weeks the building was struck by lightning and almost totally consumed by fire. Another who was erected, Mr. Sipes contributing the greater portion of the fund as before. This time the demand was almost unanimous that he be insured, but Mr. Sipes again objected on the same ground. "If it burns down again, brethren," he said, "I'll agree to rebuild it myself." Again he carried his point. In less than a month the new church was struck by lightning again, and although strenuous efforts were made to save it, the loss was almost total. "There must be some reason for this, brethren," said Brother Sipes. "I am going to find out what it is." Thereupon he employed a force of men to sink a shaft on the site of the twice destroyed church. Within a few days a rich vein of iron ore was found and the church property was sold for many times the amount needed to buy land in another locality and build again. "I tell you, brethren," said Brother Sipes, "it pays to trust the Lord. He's a great deal better business manager than anybody in this congregation."

CURE FOR MORBID WOMEN.

Work and Laughter Will Exercise Demon of Discontent.

When people have real trouble to contend with they do not sit down and analyze their emotions and remember whether this person or that person looks to the right or to the left when they spoke to them, and exactly what the tones of their voice and the elevation of their eyebrows mean, as the morbid woman does. Morbidity should be accounted a wicked demon that can be driven out. Healthy companionship, laughter, long walks in the sunshine and plenty of work will exercise the wicked little imp. Discontent and make its victim the happy, beautiful, hopeful woman she should be. Form a resolve not to be constantly thinking of self, and you will be surprised to discover how much less complicated is your outlook upon existence.—Exchange.

BOSTON CHINESE ARE SLAUGHTERED

THREE KILLED, SEVEN WOUNDED BY BAND FROM NEW YORK.

SHOT DOWN IN AN ALLEY

Cold Blooded Murders by Members of Rival Tong—The Trouble Had Been Anticipated for a Week.

Boston, Aug. 3.—Burning with hatred for their deadly enemies belonging to the rival On Leong Tong society, a band of New York Chinamen numbering a dozen or more, and said to be members of the notorious Hop Sing Tong organization, entered a narrow alley in Chinatown Friday night and drawing revolvers, opened fire upon half a hundred Chinamen, killing three and injuring seven.

At the first volley the Chinamen rushed for their quarters, stumbling over one another in their haste to reach shelter. The Hop Sing Tong men chased their victims into their own doorways and shot them down as they rushed upstairs or into side rooms. Then, casting away their guns, the strange visitors ran from the Chinese quarter, most of them escaping the police.

Several Arrests Made.

Immediately after the shooting one of the Hop Sing Tong men from New York was captured by a policeman as he was running away. He gave the name of Ning Sing. He was dressed in American clothes. Later an officer at the South station took into custody Wong Woon, of New York, whose hands were powder stained. Both persons are charged with manslaughter.

The police placed under arrest on suspicion seven other Chinamen who are strangers in the local colony.

The shooting occurred in Oxford place, in the center of Chinatown, where about 50 Chinamen were smoking in the open air.

Each Shot Through Heart.

Only 50 shots were fired. That the visitors shot with careful accuracy was apparent from the fact that each of the three men killed was shot through the heart.

The trouble had been anticipated for more than a week. About ten days ago nearly a dozen Chinamen, who were all strangers, came to Boston and rented rooms near Chinatown. The police were notified of the fact by Boston Chinamen who feared trouble. Special details of police were at once placed on duty in the Chinese quarter and the strangers suddenly disappeared.

The trouble is attributed by some to the shooting which occurred in Philadelphia recently for which it is said Boston Chinamen were partially blamed. It is thought the Chinamen who did the shooting Friday night came from New York to punish the On Leong Tong for the Philadelphia outbreak.

NEW ATTACK ON SUGAR TRUST.

Bill in Equity Filed for an Accounting of its Business.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 3.—A bill in equity which calls upon the American Sugar Refining company to give an accounting of its business for the past four years was filed before Chancellor Magie Friday on behalf of George H. Earle, Jr., receiver of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, of Philadelphia.

The suit, it is said, is the only one of the kind ever filed in this country and the step taken by the receiver of the Pennsylvania company may be the means of preventing an entree now held for investigating the trusts. The suit is separate from that for $30,000,000 damages which Mr. Earle instituted against the American Sugar Refining company in New York. Mr. Earle, who was appointed auxiliary receiver for the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company in New Jersey, seeks by his suit to compel the American Sugar Refining company to make an accounting of its profits since December 13, 1903, when it secured control of the Pennsylvania company. He holds that in securing the controlling interest in the Pennsylvania company, the American company became a trustee for the concern and is responsible to it for an accounting.

The American Sugar Refining company never operated the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company plant, but the receiver for the latter company holds that the old law which makes it necessary for a trustee to make profits and render an accounting of funds placed in its custody, applies to the American Sugar Refining company.

DRY DOCK BIDS TOO HIGH.

All Offers for Puget Sound Work Are Rejected.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The navy department Friday rejected all bids submitted for the construction of a dry dock at Bremerton, on Puget sound, because they were not within the limit of the appropriation.

The lowest bid submitted approximated the entire amount available for the construction for the dock, leaving nothing with which to purchase a caisson, pumping and other necessary appliances, which would cost about $300,000. The department will refer the matter to congress.

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 3.—Seven indictments against the Missouri Pacific Railway company for failure to operate trains on the Bagnell branch, running from Jefferson City to Bagnell, Mo., were made public here Friday. DIGG TUNNEL IN WORLD, France Will Build It for Rhone-Marcelline Canal.

Paris, Aug. 3.—The minister of public works has approved the project of the department of bridges and roads for the construction of a canal to connect the port of the Rhone with the port of Marcelline. As the hills separating the Rhone from Marcelline are too high to be surmounted by locks the project involves tunnel seven kilometers in length at a cost of $6,000,000. This tunnel measured by the amount of dirt excavated will be the largest in the world.

The width of the canal (permitting two barges to pass at any point) together with the towpaths on either side will be 60 feet and the height will be 42 feet. It will thus involve the excavation of 2,160,000 cubic meters, against 1,058,400 in the case of the famous railroad tunnel at Simplon which is 21.6 kilometers in length but only 41 feet wide and 18 feet high. The total cost of the Marcelline-Rhone canal will be $15,200,000.

Stone Cloth.

The Russians manufacture a fabric from the fiber of a filamentous stone from the Siberian mines which is said to be of so durable a nature that it is practically everlasting. The material is soft to the touch and pliable in the extreme, and has only to be thrown into a fire when dirty to be made absolutely clean.

At the Same Rate.

An elderly man walked leisurely into a drug store to have a prescript filled for some trifling complaint. Receiving from the druggist a little box of about a dozen pills, he was called upon to pay about three or four times what he thought he should. The money was paid without a murmur and in silence, but, stepping off a few feet from the counter, he slowly scanned every corner of the store, almost every shelf of it, and the sales man, supposing he wanted something else, asked what he could do for him, and the reply was: "No, you can do nothing as I'm already done for; but I'll tell you this, I've many times passed this store, but never before have been inside and made a close survey, as I have now, and, sir, I estimate you have now on hand fully $1,000,000 in stock."

Appetites of Strangers.

A waiter who always endeavored to give the best possible service to his customers supplemented an order to the kitchen attendants with the request for "a little extra in each dish." "They don't ask me for an extra allowance," he said. "In fact, they didn't know enough to ask for it, but I could see that their appetites would be equal to the supply. That is because they are strangers here. Newcomers in any restaurant or boarding house always eat more than the old-timers. Everything has a new flavor and whets their appetites. It is nothing for customers who are just getting acquainted with a place to eat as if they had been starved for a month. As a matter of fact, they have fared quite well; it's the change that makes them so voracious."

The Handy Man.

The Visitor—Yes, my husband is very "andy." I meant the cuckoo clock the other day; but it isn't quite right yet. It goes before it cuckoo!

Panel—

Excellence and Greatness.

In art, as in all things, a certain audience—an abyss—separates excellence from greatness. At the Trippenhause in Amsterdam, you see upon entering a great picture by a master whose name escapes me; it is excellent. You applaud. Turn round—that is to the Night Watch, it is Rembrandt. You utter a cry. There is greatness. Excellence has vanished. You cannot even look again at the other painting. Greatness in art is only obtained at the cost of a kind of adventure. The conquered ideal is the prize of audacity. He who risks nothing gets nothing. The genius is a hero.—From Victor Hugo's "Intellectual Autobiography."

Always the Politeness.

A Germantown woman was not long ago watching a workman as he put up new window fixtures in her house. "Don't you think that you have placed those fixtures too high?" asked she, having reference to the curtain rods put in place. The workman, a stolid German, made no reply, but continued to adjust the fixtures. " Didn't you hear my question?" demanded the lady of the house. "How dare you be so rude?" Whereupon the German gulped convulsively, and then replied in the gentlest of voices: "I bat my mouth full of ichewz, and I could not speak till I swallow some!"—Harper's Weekly.
